

St. John's News - September 21st

A new week is God's invitation to begin again. No matter what yesterday held, His mercies are new this morning. Take time to breathe in the gift of grace, to notice the beauty of creation, and to trust that you are held in His love. May your days be filled with moments that remind you of His faithfulness, and may you share that assurance freely with others.

JEJU ISN'T FOR SISSIES!

Enter the South Korean island of Jeju where the women of the island are the bread winners. This historical fiction, The Island of Sea Women by Lisa See, describes the lives of the all-female diving collective on the island. They are tasked with entering the icy waters, diving down as far as twenty meters, and collecting the seafood which they will sell at market. Set from the 1930's to the present day, two women form the closest of bonds but their friendship is torn apart by forces beyond their control. Join the Bad Girls on October 13 at 6:30 in the Conference Room and decide if you could pass muster on Jeju.
